Expert cattlemen in the Blue Grass section of Kentucky are facing a money-losing proposition this year, and thousands of dollars will be dropped by those handlers who have here to fore made good money says the Mt. Sterling Gazette. Last year the cattlemen went wild over the prices paid for exporters and as a result bought heavily of feeders weighing from 1,000 to 1,100 pounds and paid prices ranging from 5 to 6 cents per pound, figures without reason of justification. These cattle were fed heavily throughout the winter on 34 per barrel corn and some even higher in price. Export cattle in this market last year brought from 6 to 7 3/4 cents per pound, and these prices, too, when the cattle cost when purchased only from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents. Buyers buyers have been in this county with in the past three weeks looking at the cattle, some of which have offered for sale at 6c to 6 1/2c, but the buyers declined to buy and are waiting developments. Should the price of exporters stay at 6 to 6 1/2 cents during the next few months on cattle for June, July and August delivery the handlers will lose heavily.

A Wisconsin Beet Sugar Company bought 30,000 sheep which are to be fattened on beet pulp. The average price of live stock on the Chicago market last week, as compiled by the Drovers Journal, were: $6.95 hogs, $6.25, lambs, sheep $4.15, and lambs $5.45. On the corresponding week of last year the averages were, cattle, $7.60 hogs, 9.22; sheep, 7.85; and lambs, $9.25. The famous Haggin ranch, of 50,000 acres near Sacramento, Cal., has been sold. Its sale marks the passing of another of the great horse breeding establishments of the Pacific coast. The purchasers paid near $2,000,000 for the property and plan to cut it up into small farms. As late as 1905 there were 600 brood mares and 30 thoroughbred stallions on the ranch and at one time in addition to the thoroughbreds there were also from 300 to 400 trotting bred horses on it. Mr. Haggin has also reduced his stud at Elmendorf Farm Lexington Ky, to a mere handful and has taken up dairying on a gigantic scale.
